User Agreement

As a user of the website, you understand that:

- Documents provided on this site are for reference only. Every effort has been made through peer review to ensure that all material is accurate at the time of uploading.
- The Early Careers Chemistry Network (ECCN) is not responsible for any loss incurred through use or reliance upon materials provided on this website.
- Links outside of this website are not under the control of the ECCN and thus the ECCN cannot be held responsible for their content.
- The copyright of all material on this website remains with the original creator. However, upon uploading any material to the website, the uploader has agreed that derivative works can be made by other users, but only for non-commercial purposes.
- No material available on this website can be used by any user for commercial purposes. As a user of this website, you agree that you will not seek to use material available on this website for commercial purposes.

As an uploader of content to this website, you understand that:

- When uploading material to the website, you have ensured that you are the sole creator of the content that you are uploading, or that you have permission from those that have created the content.
- Any material suspected of being copyrighted by another other than the uploader, or suspected of containing commercial content, will not be accepted for uploading via the peer review process.
- Any material that is later found to be commercial content will be immediately removed.
- If the ECCN is contacted asking for material that you have uploaded to be removed, it will be immediately removed without your permission.
- The ECCN does not take ownership of any content uploaded to the website. Copyright of all content stays with the original author of the material.
- When uploading material to this website, you are giving permission for other users to make derivative works based on content you are uploading, but only for non-commercial purposes.
- If you wish your material to be removed from the website for any reason, contact the ECCN committee and it will be removed.
- You abide by any decision made by the committee during peer review of content that you are uploading to the website.